Special delivery from the North Pole

To be opened on the morning of 1 December

Dear _____

Hello! I'm so happy to finally meet you. Father Christmas picked me specially to come and stay at your house until Christmas Eve.

Every night while you're asleep, I fly back to the North Pole to tell Father Christmas all the kind and helpful things I've seen. Then I fly back and find a brand new place to sit before you wake up. See if you can find me each morning!

There are two very important elf rules. Please don't touch me, because my Christmas magic is very delicate. And I can't talk to you, but I can hear everything, so tell me all about your day.

I can't wait to see your tree, your house, and all the wonderful things you'll do this December.

Love from your elf, _____

P.S. Grown-ups can help me pick a name, or I might already have one!
